

Closing Argument

"Big-name employers have tremendous leverage over their employees, who should never be stripped of their legal rights. Large companies should ensure that their new employees have the opportunity to make a waiver of their rights as opposed to using a blind notification policy."

NEIL GREENBERG

Neil H. Greenberg and Associates

